“Learn to...” summer program at Sylvia Grinnell Territorial Park

Do you want to learn something new? Weekly “Learn to...” events will again be offered this summer at Sylvia Grinnell Territorial Park in Iqaluit!

Different activities are planned every Tuesday afternoon, from 1:15 p.m. to 3 p.m., until the end of August, including:

- Learn to light a qulliq.
- Learn to use a GPS.
- Learn about traditional plant uses.

If the weather is bad, activities will be in the park pavilion. Some activities may take place at a different location; please check gov.nu.ca/environment for details.
